

Hello Everyone,

The holidays are nearly over and school will soon be starting again. When I was your age, I loved the summer holidays just like you but after a while I started missing my friends, my teachers and even my classroom.

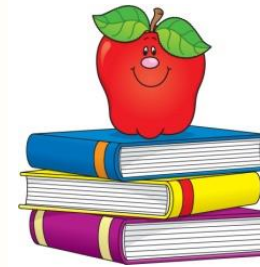

I loved the smell of fresh new books, sometimes a new book bag, but most of all seeing all my friends, classmates and teachers again. That really put a smile on my face. See if you can draw a smile on the faces of Jessica and Nick and maybe add a little color so that they will look really happy.

May our dear Lord keep you all happy , healthy and safe and may your school days be blessed. Have fun drawing the faces and coloring the picture

God Bless
Birgitta
